Congratulations on earning your degree from the University of Maryland! This milestone in your life should bring great satisfaction to you, your family and friends. It is no small feat. I am confident that your appreciation of your experience here will blossom more fully every year. You have learned theories and how to formulate your ideas. You have also learned that asking the right question is usually a more important step to knowledge than getting the “right” answer. After all, the hard questions have no right answer.

The University of Maryland has offered you opportunities to develop your interests and expand your horizons. I hope that you took full advantage of them and let the sky of opportunity open for you. You have made friends and found mentors, and they too will continue to add value to your life in ways that we cannot be specify today, even though history declares that it will happen.

As you leave us, I would like you to know how much we, the faculty and staff, respect your accomplishments as scholar, artist, athlete and leader—as an individual. You have enriched our lives and have helped the university reach new levels of distinction. We welcome you into the university’s alumni family, a truly special group.

I urge you to stay connected to Maryland and take full advantage of being an alum of the university. I hope that you will return to campus often, continue to support us, and help new generations of students shape their futures here as you have shaped yours. As our 150th Anniversary year continues through October, please come back to campus for the many celebrations.

You have my very best wishes for all your endeavors. We are proud of each and every one of you. Stay in touch. Go Terps!

Yours sincerely,

C. D. Mote, Jr.

President

Congratulations, Graduates! Right now, you are probably more concerned with graduating, packing and preparing for life's next challenge rather than pondering your ongoing relationship with the University of Maryland.

But once your diploma is on the wall, your apartment security deposit has been restored and your IM buddy list is filled with new colleagues, I hope you will remember your alma mater.

The alumni association—your No. 1 resource for keeping in touch with the university—is proud to welcome you into Maryland's alumni family. As our Philip R. Rever Alumni Hall of Fame proves, you are in great company.

We're also proud to give you a complimentary one-year membership as a graduation gift. Once you have activated it at www.alumni.umd.edu, your membership will:

- provide access to professional networking receptions and social programming
- allow you to take part in events at the Samuel Riggs IV Alumni Center
- give you the opportunity to support future generations of Terps
- offer options for car insurance, health coverage and other services to help ease your transition into post-college life.

Today, that transition is all consuming. But once it is complete, remember your university and stay connected. And once your complimentary year is over, take advantage of our newest program: lifetime membership. You'll find all of the details online.

Thanks to your Terrapin spirit and your alumni association membership, we all share an exciting future. Congratulations on your graduation and best of luck to you in your new role as Maryland alumni.

Once again, congratulations ... and a traditional "GO TERPS!"

Sincerely,

Danita D. Nias '81

Dear Graduating Seniors, While graduation is believed to be a time of ending, the term "commencement" actually means beginning. We are celebrating a new start in which we will more fully mature into the skills, talents, experiences and personalities we have developed in the past few years. It is a time to see from where we have come, admire who we are today and imagine our potential.

Each of us is focusing our journeys in different ways, but we share a time period that others cannot fully comprehend as we do. We are witness to shared experiences on campus, in the local community, and in the world around us. We have come to depend on each other in times of need and celebrate with each other in times of excitement and joy. We will forever be linked as the graduating class of 2006.

Graduation is not a time to stop learning or sever this devotion to the University of Maryland, for it will always be our home. As much as these few years have helped us develop, our influence has made an indelible mark on this institution.

Congratulations graduates and best wishes!

Campus Map

A Continuing Commitment to Excellence

From its pre-Civil War roots as the state's first agricultural college and one of America's original land grant institutions, the University of Maryland has emerged as a public research university of national stature, highly regarded for its broad base of excellence in teaching and research. Maryland's beautiful 1,200-acre campus is in the heart of the I-270 research corridor that is fueling a burgeoning information technology and biotechnology industry.

The momentum of recent years has poised the university to take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century. By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. Maryland is one of the nation's Top 20 public national universities, and the quality of our faculty—with three Nobel Prize winners, seven Pulitzer Prize winners and scores of Fulbright scholars—is among the finest of any research university in the United States.

There are 13 schools and colleges within the organizational structure of the University of Maryland. Seven of these units—the Smith School of Business, the College of Education, the Clark School of Engineering, the Philip Merrill College of Journalism, the College of Computer, Mathematical and Physical Sciences, the College of Information Studies and the School of Public Policy—have been recognized by their peers and in various rankings as among the 25 best in the nation.

The breadth of this excellence is a source of pride for students, faculty and staff, and is endorsement for the university's flagship status among the state's institutions of higher education.

The university also continues to move forward in the quality of our students and the support of our faithful alumni. Freshman admission is increasingly competitive. More than 22,460 applications were received for only 4,223 spots in the Fall 2005 entering class. After completing a challenging academic journey, new graduates join a growing family of proud Terps and become eligible to "Carry the Card"—a Maryland Alumni Association membership card. Maryland Association membership has grown to more than 31,000 since the organization's founding in 1989.

The university's commitment to quality education in a research environment is key to its academic reputation and the success of its graduates. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach. The research enterprise infuses the curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, exposing students to the most pressing issues and challenges in their discipline and training them to respond with rigor as well as creativity to contemporary problems.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy. Strong links to the scientific and technological agencies and organizations of the federal government drive research in the environment, engineering, physics, computer science, life sciences and agriculture. Scholarship in the arts, humanities and social sciences is marked by the spirit of intellectual diversity and interdisciplinary collaboration.

Maryland is one of the research universities in the prestigious 61-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Total sponsored research and outreach revenue for fiscal year 2005 totaled more than $329 million. These funds for research, training and outreach come from a variety of sources including the federal government, state government, corporations and foundations.

The Office of Technology Commercialization (OTC) at the University of Maryland was established in late 1986 to facilitate the transfer of information, life and physical science inventions developed at the university to business and industry. In its 19-year history, OTC has recorded more than 1,500 technologies, secured more than 275 patents and licensed more than 750 technologies, generating more than $23.5 million in technology transfer income. OTC collaborates with university offices such as the Maryland Technology Enterprise Institute, the Technology Advancement Program, the Small Business Development Center and the Dingman Center for Entrepreneurship. These partnerships demonstrate the university's broad range of technology transfer services, R&D funding, partnering opportunities and entrepreneurial capabilities to the local community, industry and government.

History

The University of Maryland was founded in 1807 in Baltimore as a faculty-owned College of Medicine. The medical school was considered one of the top schools in the country, attracting notable professors and lecturers from throughout the world. In its beginning, tuition cost $140, grades were sent home weekly to parents, and students could obtain room and board for $300 annually.

Five years later, the growing institution was renamed the University of Maryland. Despite the name, the university was not considered a state institution as it was still owned and operated by faculty. Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first dental school in the world, became a part of the university in 1840, awarding the first Doctor of Dental Surgery

The University Is On the Move

- Leading the Way: Among Top 20 national public universities, Maryland is No. 1 in the total number of degrees conferred upon African American students.
- New Homes for Innovation: We're building the state's largest-ever research park, M Square, which will bring nearly 6,500 new jobs to the area. The state of Maryland also approved $60.6 million in construction funds, allowing us to begin construction on a new Bioscience Research Building, bolstering the university's goal to provide regional leadership in education and research for the biosciences.
- Our Constellation of Stars: The quality of Maryland faculty ranks among the finest of any research university in the United States and includes three Nobel Prize winners, six Pulitzer Prize winners and scores of Fulbright scholars.
- Impact of Another Kind: NASA turned to the university to lead a $279 million mission that gave astronomers a first look inside a comet, revealing the pristine materials that form the basis of our solar system. Deep Impact hit Comet Tempel 1 on July 4, 2005, providing valuable information for researchers.
- Lighting a Path: The university is embarking on a new fundraising campaign that includes among its goals raising at least $200 million for student scholarships, which are needed to ensure that lower- and middle-income students have the financial means to attain their degrees. Co-chairing this important effort is alumnus and men's head basketball coach Gary Williams and alumnus.
- An Economic Force: The University of Maryland generates $5.93 of economic activity for every dollar appropriated by the General Assembly, providing a statewide impact of nearly $1.8 billion annually.
- Lending Knowledge: With three million volumes and seven libraries on campus, the university's library system is the largest in the state.
- Protecting our Communities: The Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute trained more than 31,500 sorely needed professionals during the last fiscal year.

(D.D.S.) degree in 1841.

In 1859, the Maryland Agricultural College, which would evolve into the University of Maryland, College Park, was opened under a charter secured by a group of Maryland planters in 1856. In addition to spending one hour each day hoeing or plowing on the college farm, students took a broad range of courses in ancient and modern languages, natural sciences, English and mathematics. After a disastrous fire on campus in 1912, the state acquired the college and rebuilt it.

In 1920, the state legislature combined the College Park institution with the professional schools in Baltimore to form an expanded University of Maryland. The entity eventually grew to include campuses in Baltimore County, the Eastern Shore and University College, a continuing education institution.

The following decades saw the increasing growth of student population, excellence in programs and curricula, and the burgeoning of the University of Maryland, College Park, into a nationally recognized research institution.

July 1, 1988, marked the dawn of a new era in higher education in the state of Maryland, as the five components of the university were merged with six other state universities and colleges to form the University System of Maryland, and College Park secured its flagship status with a mandate to become one of the pre-eminent research universities in the nation.

The Alumni Association

The Maryland Alumni Association connects Terrapins with each other and with Alma Mater, offering access to financial services, career networking opportunities, social events and continuing education programs. The association keeps graduates up-to-date on Maryland's latest successes through Terp magazine and maintains a home address at the university for all alumni: the Samuel Riggs IV Alumni Center. Graduating seniors, masters and doctoral candidates receive a complimentary one-year membership.

The Alumni

The Maryland Alumni Association's Hall of Fame honors university graduates who have brought honor to their alma mater through distinguished careers in a variety of disciplines. The following 51 individuals have shown the world what it means to be a Terp.

The Hall of Fame induction ceremony takes place once every five years, with the most recent group of honorees inducted in June 2005.

Customs of Commencement

Early commencement ceremonies at the University of Maryland were marked with great fanfare and celebration. The faculty gave huge banquets for the graduates the night before the event. The following morning, crowds gathered to watch the young graduates parade. It was a gala social occasion, attracting not only friends and relatives, but the fashionable elite of the day. At the ceremony, prayers were recited, speeches were made, and honorary degrees were awarded to distinguished figures from across the country. Finally, as the audience cheered and threw flowers, the graduates came forward to collect their Latin-inscribed degrees.

Academic Costume

The black caps and gowns worn by the students and faculty in the academic procession have been the traditional costume of scholars since the Middle Ages. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was similar to that of a cleric. Caps and gowns were probably worn to keep students warm in unheated buildings. Many medieval scholars were tonsured, like monks, and hoods served to cover their shaved heads until the skullcap later took its place.

Even after the Civil War, most students at American universities wore caps and gowns daily while in residence. These varied in design until they were standardized by the American Intercollegiate Commission in 1894. At that time it was decided that all robes would be black. Colors on the trim of the gown were also standardized to indicate the scholar's academic discipline.

A list of department colors follows:

Agriculture: Maize
 Arts, Letters, Humanities: White
 Business Administration,
 Commercial Science: Drab
 Dentistry: Lilac

Economics: Copper
 Education: Light Blue
 Engineering: Orange
 Fine Arts, Architecture: Brown
 Forestry: Russet
 Home Economics: Maroon
 Journalism: Crimson
 Law: Purple
 Library Science: Lemon
 Medicine: Green
 Music: Pink
 Nursing: Apricot
 Oratory, Speech: Silver Gray
 Pharmacy: Olive
 Physical Education: Sage Green
 Philanthropy: Rose
 Philosophy: Dark Blue
 Public Administration, Foreign Service: Peacock Blue
 Public Health: Salmon
 Science: Golden Yellow
 Social Work: Citron
 Theology and Divinity: Scarlet
 Veterinary Sciences: Gray

The tassel may also be colored to represent an academic discipline or it may be black. Officially, the tassel is permitted "to lie where it will" on the mortarboard. However, numerous institutions have adopted the practice of having degree candidates wear the tassel on the right front side at the start of the commencement ceremony and then shift them to the left side after degrees are awarded.

Student Marshals

Elected through a nomination process, student marshals are senior leaders who play an important role in the graduation ceremony. Student marshals assist in organizing the thousands of graduates, leading them smoothly through the commencement procession. They also supply extra caps and hoods, and bobby pins to keep headwear secure. May 2006 marshals are listed on page 85 of this booklet.

Senior Gift

Since 1910, members of the graduating class have supported a senior gift designed to commemorate their college experience. Traditionally the gift serves as a contribution to the campus community that forever links alumni with the university. Past gifts include the Testudo statue, gardens, artwork, contributions to the library and support for projects such as the Jim Henson statue and the sundial.

The M circle is a Maryland icon. It's probably one of the things you'll remember most about campus when you graduate. Now the Class of 2006, has the chance to leave its mark on campus by placing a similar landmark near Lot 1 and the Samuel Riggs IV Alumni Center—one that will inspire students, impress visiting football teams and become a symbol for alumni.

This year, the Senior Council has arranged to landscape that circle for the 2005-2006 Senior Class Gift. It will welcome past, current and future Terps onto campus while putting your mark on the university in a "roundabout" way.

To be a part of this 95-year tradition of philanthropy by donating to the Senior Class Gift, visit www.seniors.umd.edu or call 301.314.GRAD for more information.

Academic Degrees

A degree is awarded for the successful completion of a course of study. There are more than 1,600 different academic degrees currently conferred by colleges and universities nationwide. The University of Maryland offers degrees in 127 undergraduate majors, 72 doctoral programs, 93 master's programs and one first professional degree.

The Doctor's Degree

The doctor's degree represents the most advanced earned degree conferred by American institutions. There are two distinct types: the practitioner's degree and the research degree. The first type represents advanced training for the practice of various professions, principally Doctor of Medicine, Juris Doctor, Doctor of Pharmacy, and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. These degrees do not involve the completion of original research by the student. The University of Maryland, at the professional school in Baltimore, awarded the first two dental degrees ever on March 9, 1841, and invented the name of the degree, Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S.).

The University of Maryland conveys the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (D.V.M.) to approximately 90 students each year in a program that was instituted in 1980. Graduates receive a diploma containing the seals of both the University of Maryland and its partner institution, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

The second type is the research doctorate representing prolonged periods of advanced study. A dissertation that usually accompanies the study is intended to contribute substantially to the body of knowledge on the subject. The most important of these, the Doctor of Philosophy, no longer has an implication of philosophy for its holder, but represents advanced research in any of the major fields of knowledge. It was first awarded in the United States in 1861 by Yale University. The University of Maryland awarded a Ph.D. for the first time in 1920.

The Master's Degree

The master's degree is an academic honor bestowed upon students who have successfully completed work beyond the baccalaureate.

A thesis and an oral examination are usually required. In 1920, the University of Maryland awarded its first Master of Arts (M.A.) and Master of Science (M.S.) degrees in fields other than agriculture.

The Bachelor's Degree

The bachelor's degree represents the completion of a four-year course of college-level study and is the oldest academic degree awarded by American institutions of higher learning. It was first conferred in America in 1642 on the first nine graduates of Harvard College. Maryland Agriculture College, which later became the University of Maryland, College Park, awarded its first Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) and Bachelor of Science (B.S.) in 1862.

Paul Spyros Sarbanes, the state's senior Democrat in the United States Senate, is Maryland's longest serving U.S. senator, elected for five consecutive terms. His distinguished 40-year career in public service is guided by his deeply held belief in a just and equitable society with a government that is responsible and accountable to its citizens.

Sarbanes was born on Feb. 3, 1933, in Salisbury, Md. to Spyros and Matina Sarbanes, immigrants from Laconia, Greece. His parents, who owned a restaurant in Salisbury, emphasized the importance of education as the key to greater opportunities. Following graduation from Wicomico High School, Sarbanes attended Princeton University on an academic and athletic scholarship, where he graduated in 1954. Sarbanes continued his distinguished academic trek as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University, from where he graduated in 1957. He went on to Harvard Law School and completed his degree in 1960.

Sarbanes' political career began in 1966, when he won election to the Maryland House of Delegates in Baltimore City. By 1970, he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives, where he served for three consecutive terms. His committee assignments included the House Judiciary Committee and the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. As the senator advanced legislation to improve the lives of his constituents, his public service vision broadened. He was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1976.

Sarbanes has procured millions of research and training dollars for Maryland's colleges and universities including the university's Maryland Institute of Minority Achievement and Urban Education and the state's Academic Health Education Centers. In 2005, Sarbanes along with Rep. Steny Hoyer awarded the university a $750,000 grant for Firefighter Safety Research and Development through the Department of Homeland Security.

He has worked to double the maximum Pell Grant award for students, to increase funding of college work study and other aid-based programs, and to secure full funding for the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Sen. Sarbanes announced that he's retiring at the end of this term, culminating a highly distinguished and committed life as a one of this country's most outstanding public servants.

Jessica Sheer

Recipient of the University Medal

Awarded at May Commencement to the graduating senior who best exemplifies academic distinction, extraordinary character and extracurricular contributions to the campus or public communities. Consisting of a gold medal and a cash prize, it is the highest honor the university can bestow upon a graduating senior.

Though it took her until her junior year to declare a major, Jessica Sheer hit the university at full steam as a freshman, helping her peers tap into Maryland's vast academic resources. She hasn't slowed down much and seems to be picking up speed even as her undergraduate career comes to a close.

A government and politics major, Jessica became an Honors tutor in her first semester. Throughout her time at Maryland, she has tutored her fellow students in Spanish, Italian, English and economics. In her second semester, she added disability support services reader to her resume; she spent her senior year working as a peer advisor in her department. Her application speaks of the joy she derives from bridging the gap between people and their potential.

Jessica extends this bridge mentality off campus. Also as a freshman and then as a sophomore, she worked for a nonprofit association that gave voice to smaller organizations concerned about water quality with the goal of providing "clean water everywhere for everyone." As a junior, she spent eight months in her state delegate's office as an intern. She found herself, again, working to provide access to resources. The experience opened her eyes to greater possibilities. Instead of helping people to obtain, say, health-care, what about advocating for the most fundamental of human rights?

After graduation, she will head to Georgetown Law School with a Dean's Scholarship. Her sights are set on using her degree and her linguistic abilities not to practice law, but as tools for protecting and enforcing individuals' rights, enabling them to "achieve their potential." Ever eager to broaden her world view, Jessica is interested in a year-abroad program at the Sorbonne. "I don't know French yet, but I can learn," she says.

Her professors attest to Jessica's winning combination of academic drive and compassion. "She has helped countless students at the university with some of the most difficult academic decisions they will ever face, while serving as a role model of both academic excellence and extraordinary service to her peers," wrote Wayne McIntosh, director of undergraduate studies and associate chair of her department.

Michelle (Shuli) Karkowsky

Michelle (Shuli) Karkowsky, a double major in government and economics, understands how education and a knowledge of world events can lead to cynicism, especially among her peers. However, she feels that it is these very tools that can be used for change.

"People want to believe that anything is possible," she says. "I just want to inspire them to act on those beliefs."

Shuli demonstrates her theory. Coming to the school as a Banneker Key scholar, Shuli maintained a 4.0 GPA, while spending time on and off campus working toward improving the world around her. Shuli is a leader in the Jewish community both at Maryland and internationally, and a member of the university's Board of Governors. She worked with the American Israel Public Affairs Committee, in Sen. Barbara Mikulski's office and even spent this year's spring break in Chalmette, La., cleaning up damage left by Hurricane Katrina.

"I was amazed by how many other people were going. We took three full buses from Maryland. It was inspirational," she says, adding that even the 18-hour ride didn't dim her enthusiasm.

Professors and university leaders speak highly of her commitment to her fellow man and to learning as well as her demonstrated ability in both endeavors. "Shuli puts into action what she believes in her heart," wrote Rabbi Ari Israel, executive director of Maryland Hillel, in his nomination letter. On a paper she wrote examining the impact of globalization on gender equality, Prof. Soo Yeon Kim of the Department of Government and Politics wrote, "Shuli was able to engage two very disparate subject areas ... that led to an outstanding research paper."

A Gemstone Scholar, Shuli is part of a highly selective group of top-achieving students who engage in multidisciplinary study. She was a member of the GenEthics team that "investigated the legal, political and ethical implications of genetic testing in the United States."

She says that when she's tempted to be disillusioned by some of life's harsh reality, she taps into other people's energy. "For me it's been about how other people inspire me...it's like fuel."

Bachelor's degree candidates who have qualified for scholarship honors upon graduation are designated by appropriate symbols adjacent to their names within the alphabetical listing of colleges or schools.

To be eligible for consideration for such honors a candidate must meet the following general criteria: (1) have completed at least two years of work at the University of Maryland (60 semester hours, 30 of which were earned at the College Park campus) and (2) have a scholastic average of a "B" (grade point average of 3.0) or higher in the University of Maryland work prior to the last semester of registration before the awarding of a degree.

Degree candidates who have met these criteria are shown in the listings as qualifying, upon graduation, for the designators Summa cum Laude (if they ranked in the top 2 percent of the candidates in their respective colleges or schools), Magna cum Laude (if in the next 3 percent), or cum Laude (if in the next 5 percent) based on the grade point averages of students in the preceding three graduating classes of their degree-granting unit.

The May 2006 class roster comprises degree candidates from the graduate and undergraduate programs at the University of Maryland, College Park. As final action cannot always be taken for candidates by the time this program is printed, the list of candidates here is tentative only. The university reserves the right to withdraw or add names. Diplomas (for other than doctoral degrees) will be mailed by the Office of Records and Registration.

The Senior Marshal Program began in 1991 as an opportunity to acknowledge outstanding seniors at their commencement. The students selected to be marshals were nominated by faculty, administrators and staff for their outstanding accomplishments and contributions to the University of Maryland. We are proud to recognize these truly remarkable students.
